* Essential Amino Acids

Amino acids are the building blocks of proteins, which are converted by plants into new growth. Some amino acids also play a critical role in photosynthesis, the process by which carbohydrates are converted into both energy and new proteins.

Humic acid is a common treatment, but amino acids are often neglected at the expense of potential plant productivity and plant resistance to environmental stresses.

Max Amino is an organic, foliar nitrogen fertilizer with 18 L Amino acid, and is derived exclusively from vegetable proteins.

Max Amino is 100% salt-free and 100% effective.

Benefits
